School Starts For New Term

Owing to the fact that Monday was Labor Day the local school did not start the first of the month, but Tuesday the old familiar bell tolled, sending out the call that a new term was started for the Wrangell school, and many were the pleasant memories it awoke in the hearts of the younger generation as they heard the sound. Some 74 children were enrolled on the opening day and there are many more who have not yet returned to town after their vacation who will likely be enrolled before the next week is over. Owing to the fact that the high school teacher did not arrive that department was not enrolled, but the teacher Miss Lovejoy of Philchuck, Washington, is on the Jefferson, according to a wire received by the school board, and will be here to start that school the first of the week. The high school is a new department in the schools of Wrangell and another evidence of her growth, this making a staff of four teachers the most that have been employed here at any time before.

Miss Dora Drowatzkey, the principal, reports that the school is making an excellent start and she expects to see the same kept up during the entire term. Miss Frances M. Calkins has charge of the Intermediate grades and Miss Mary Bihler the primary department.

part of the school has made excellent progress in the years past and there is every indication that this will be more than equalled in the present term.

That Moose Annual Ball

The first annual Moose ball, given by Wrangell Lodge No. 866 on Labor day, Monday evening, at the Skating Rink, was probably the best attended dance ever held in Wrangell. With the floor in good condition and excellent music furnished by the Wrangell orchestra, the affair was enjoyed by all who attended. A bounteous supper was served, and the hospitality shown by the lodge was unstinted.

About 150 couples were in attendance, and those present were unanimous in pronouncing the dance a success. Everybody had a good time.

Wrangell Lodge was organized last April, and during the short time it has been in existence has gained a large membership and a prominent position among the fraternal orders of Wrangell.

The Loyal order of Moose is founded upon the principles of purity, aid and progress, and the spirit of fraternalism was amply demonstrated Monday night. Who wouldn't be a Moose?

J. G. Grant is preparing to build a new front on the old Pioneer to make room for a shoe shop for Roy LaBorch.

Launch Irene Barnes Explodes

The cannery tender Irene Barnes of the Lake Bay cannery caught fire early yesterday morning, Wednesday, and exploded, splitting the boat wide open, and seriously burning Captain M. L. Burke and slightly injuring E. Chryton, who worked as a deckhand on the boat.

The explosion occurred as Mr. Burke was lighting a gasoline stove to prepare his breakfast early in the morning. It seems that the gasoline tank was leaking and had filled the bilge with gasoline, and as soon as a match was struck the whole inside of the boat took fire, with a loud explosion which split the boat wide open.

Capt. Burke barely escaped with his life, reaching the ladder as the boat started to sink, and in almost an unknown way he climbed up the ladder to the dock where several persons had gathered to learn the cause of the explosion, who took the lines off the wharf, and pulled the boat up to shallow water where she sank and in all probabilities the engine will be saved.

The Irene Barnes was practically a new boat, coming first to Alaska in 1908, being built in Astoria, Washington, for the F. S. Barnes Company who operate the Lake Bay cannery. She was a staunch little craft of 55 feet rated at ten tons, and has been operating for the Lake Bay cannery ever since she came to Alaska.

M. S. Burke is well known to everybody in Wrangell and is one of the most popular boat men in the country, having many friends who are grieved to hear of his accident. Mr. Burke came here in the winter of 1907 in company with Mr. Tate, the local contractor and painter, and for the past five years has been employed during the season with the Lake Bay cannery. The timely assistance of Mrs. MacDonald, a trained nurse who was at Lake Bay, and dressed the burns of the two men, relieved their suffering greatly.

Mr. Burke was brought to town on the gas boat Crockett and is in the local hospital under the care of Dr. Dawes. Mr. Chryton was not burned very seriously, and his burns were dressed without having to come to Wrangell.

New Business For Wrangell

Another new store and business was added to the growing business firms of Wrangell during the last week by the opening of the J. Joseph Millinery Store in the Clark Building on the lower end of Front street. The store has fine a new line of ladies, misses and childrens fall and winter millinery, and is also prepared to take orders of Made-to-order ladies clothing, of which they are agents for a reliable eastern firm.

Discovers New Mineral Ledge

John Fanning of Ketchikan, came in from the lower end of Etlin Island last Friday night to get the returns from some samples of a ledge of ore that he had discovered during a prospecting trip early in the summer, and had taken to Ketchikan and sent to S. P. Stoles of Spokane, and was to receive the returns here. He was a greatly surprised to find the city that he has. The returns received on the last boat show a percentage of 40.45 in gold. The ledge is eight feet across and is close to the beach. Besides this he has located several others that are promising, although there has been no assay as yet. Mr. Fanning is so enthusiastic over Wrangell that he has decided to winter here providing things turn out as he expects.

A Good Show at Benders' tonight.

Tom Tamaree Cuts His Hand

Tom Tamaree had the misfortune last Saturday evening of cutting his hand in a painful way while cutting wood. The accident occurred when the axe he was using struck a knot and glanced striking the hand that was holding the stick, inflicting a serious wound. Dr. Dawes was called and took several stitches in the wound and up to date it has been healing the best that can be expected from such a cut.

About Ready to Start Fishing

The Alaska Co-operative Fishing & Packing Association will install ice in their new plant on the St. Michael Trading Company's wharf this week, and will be ready to start operations in the near future.

The plant has a capacity of 100 tons of fish, and the association will handle fresh and cured fish on a large scale as soon as the building is finished and fishing starts. Several more gas boats have been lined up during the past week.

Capt. McGhee is having the Laura May overhauled at the boat house of Billy Reid this week getting her ready to start fishing for the new Co-operative company.

The gas boat Marion of Petersburg brought several people from that place Monday to attend the Grand Ball given here by the local Moose Lodge.

Mrs. Sinclair and children were among the passengers upon the last Dolphin from a three weeks visit with friends and relatives on the sound.

You Are Invited

Camp Petersburg No. 30, Arctic Brotherhood, have sent an invitation to Wrangell Camp No. 28 and friends to attend their first annual ball to be held September 13th at Petersburg.

The report reaches town that the A. B. over there are making some grand preparations for the event, and everyone that goes is sure to have the time of their lives. The matter was taken up by the local camp at their meeting last night, and a committee consisting of Sam Cunningham, Louis Olson and R. Hofstad was appointed to see to it that transportation will be provided for all who wish to go.

So if you want to have a good time, go. All wishing to go should report to one of the committee.

Master Johnnie Grant has been on the sick list for the past five days but is very much improved today.

Winnifred up The River Saturday

The river boat Winnifred, Capt. Strong, left last Saturday for Telegraph with one of the latest loads of freight that she has taken up this season and several passengers on their way to the hunting grounds at the headwaters of the Stikine river.

On the way up she made the trip to Telegraph, having only reached Glenora on the previous trips, and then came back and made an extra trip from Glenora to Telegraph to handle the freight she had left there. The boat proved herself all right on the trip by the way the engines worked and expects to make at least one more trip up this year.

Wrestling Match Coming

An event which is looked forward to with interest by the people of the town is a wrestling bout to be staged at the rink on the evening of September 12 between Eddie Lynch and "Butch" Graham. Both boys are well known in Wrangell and each has a host of followers and the match should be a good one.

Capt. Stackpole and the ship "Wabash" came in last Saturday from the seasons fishing.

ALASKA FOREST RESERVE

The Alaska forest reserve is the largest in the world. It covers an area of about 100,000,000 acres, or twenty-seven per cent of the territory.

The report says that quality of timber varies there are patches of good and poor timber over various regions. The best saw timber is found in the southern and southwestern parts. The aggregate stand in those regions has been estimated at seventy-five billion feet. The best and most valuable timber is found in Tongass and Chugach forest reserves which contain twenty six million acres.

The timber is mostly made up of Sitka spruce, western hemlock, and western red cedar, and the spruce is the largest species. Trees are found which measure six feet in diameter and one hundred and fifty feet high.

The conducting of a greater number of hatcheries, the salmon supply has not only been kept from exhaustion but the indications are that it will, under intelligent regulation, actually increase rather than diminish in the future. -Post Intelligence.

AFTER WHITE PASS

U. S. Attorney John Rustgard leaves on the next steamer for Skagway to take preliminary steps looking towards an early cancellation of the Brackett wagon road franchise over the way for the Alaska end of what is ultimately to be an automobile road from tide water at Skagway, to Dawson, and possibly on down the Yukon river to Fairbanks and Nome.

The franchise was secured by Brackett in 1898 and a company was organized to operate a toll wagon road. Several years later the White Pass railroad purchased the stock closed the road to traffic and has held possession of the right of way ever since.

Acting under orders from the attorney general, suit is to be filed by the government against the stock to cancel the right of way.

Recently the Yukon government appropriated a large slice of the territorial monies for an auto road from Dawson to Whitehorse, and Premier McBride, of British Columbia, now has an engineer working between Whitehorse and the summit to ascertain the cost of continuing the road, provided the Alaska road commission will furnish the road from the summit to Skagway.

It is predicted the road will be finished within two years and that automobiles will make the trip during the summer season from Skagway to Dawson in less than 48 hours.

Falebn Joslin, the Fairbanks railroad man who went north recently enroute to Fairbanks, has all the arrangements completed to put wireless stations in the Shushanna country if the reports from there continue favorable. The plan is for the company to do commercial business. Mr. Joslin organized the wireless company that does the business of the Iditarod country, and is still at its head.

George Trenholm, a pioneer of Dawson, met death last week at Port Townsend, Washington, by falling out of a second story window at the Northwestern sanatorium and broke his back, one leg and sustained internal injuries.

WHAT PROTECTION DOES FOR WASHINGTON?

The reports from the Strait and from Bellingham indicate that the sockeye run of salmon this year is the largest that has been known for the full period of twelve years. The waters are fairly teeming with fish, and the closed season of thirty-six hours each week, enforced by the laws of this State and those of British Columbia, insure that an enormous number of the salmon will reach their spawning grounds unmolested.

Their spawn and that which will be hatched in the government hatcheries will be sufficient to provide an equal or a larger number when the four year period again rolls around, and the fish hatched from the present spawn in their turn come back to the racial breeding grounds on the Fraser river.

SITKA'S COLD STORAGE PLANT OPENS SEPT. 1ST

The Booth Fisheries company were delayed in getting their big storage plant running because of the wreck of the "Caracac" with part of the machinery, but every thing lost in the wreck has been duplicated, and by the first of plant will be running full blast and freezing halibut.

Jacob Kline, at one time famous as an Alaskan musher but now an employee in the Seattle city treasurer's office, was married last week. It was his second marriage.

The Skagway city council has repealed the municipal poll tax ordinance giving as a reason therefor that the Territory has taken that source of taxation, and that more than $4. poll tax would be too much.

Work will start in a short time on the federal building at Prince Rupert. It will be used to house the postoffice and the other federal offices of that section of British Columbia.

MORE BOATS FOR ALASKA FISHERIES

A considerable extension of the activities of the Alaska Fisheries Service of the United States Bureau of Fisheries is contemplated in the estimate of the appropriation for the fiscal year 1914. In a communication to the Secretary of the Treasury, later transmitted to the speaker of the House of Representatives, Secretary William C. Redfield asks for the appropriation of an additional $400,000 to provide for a sea going vessel, a tug and six fast motorboats, and the increase of the staff by five assistant agents. This is the greatest expansion of the Alaska Fisheries Service since its establishment.

The sum of $100,000 is expected to provide for the construction of a vessel suitable for making trips to points anywhere between Seattle and Unalaska, a light draft tug for use in the Bristol Bay region, three launches for Central Alaska and three for Southeastern Alaska.

MINER KILLED IN FAIRBANKS ACCIDENT

A cave in on No. 17 gold stream creek on the night of August 14th buried two Italians. One was rescued immediately, and was only slightly injured. The other was dead when his body was recovered several hours after the accident.

The first shipment of coal arrived at Prince Rupert from the interior over the Grand Trunk railroad last week. It is said the shipments will continue regularly hereafter. The coal comes from near New Hazelton.

The fish receipts at Prince Rupert for the month of July were valued at $323,530. The fish consisted of 1,950,000 pounds of halibut and 1,050,000 pounds of salmon.

Valdez' new power plant was completed and began its work of supplying that town with water power for its electric light and other plants August 5th.

Back From The New Gold Strike

Steve Grant was among the passengers down on the Humboldt Tuesday night, on his way home from White Horse, where he had gone on his way to the new gold strike on the Shushanna. Steve went north on the ill-fated State of California on her fatal trip, and was one of the lucky ones, but has some tales of the wreck. In the wreck Mr. Grant lost his outfit and all he had with him except what he had on his back, and after arriving at White Horse he could learn no facts regarding the new diggings so he returned to Wrangell rather than buy him a new outfit with nothing more than hearsay to go on.

N. W. Powers, formerly of Denver, Colorado. Came to Alaska in 1894, made several trips to the states, and was last heard from in a letter dated Dec. 2, 1913. Was recorded in the American Green district from 1895 to 1900. Located and named Skookum Gulch, and he and partner sold out to Alex McDonald.

Barry Clyde Wilhelm, sometimes known by the name of Clyde Householder, left Braddock, Pennsylvania, about four years ago, for Alaska. Supposed to have been in employ of government. Had served in the Spanish American War. Mother and wife both anxious for some definite information as to his whereabouts, if living or particulars of death.

INFORMATION WANTED

Information is desired as to the whereabouts of Fred Goldmacher age 75 years, a native of Germany, who left St. Louis in the year 1868 and was last heard of as a resident of Sitka in 1904, since which time no trace of him can be found. ## PRICE OF HALIBUT STAYS VERY LOW

Word comes from Seattle that the price offered for halibut at that place continues very low, the latest quotations being but two and one-half cents per pound. San Francisco, Aug. 21—The closing chapters of the Diggs trial proved very dramatic, the prosecuting attorney going to extremes to show the defendant branding him a criminal and a coward.

Later—The jury brought in a verdict of guilty against the accused on four of the counts of the indictment. Notice of an appeal was given and his release on bail asked for pending the appeal. Bail was allowed at five thousand dollars for each count, which was provided and he was released at midnight. The other two counts of the indictment which charged him with persuading, advising and inducing the girls the jury obstinately disagreed. He will be sentenced September 9. The Caminetti trial began today.
